

Jericho's mission is to defend the world from emerging generative AI threats.

Our phishing simulation can be used to reinforce positive learnings when used in conjunction with a robust training program.

Our generative training capability ensures that your training content is highly customizable, and always remains up-to-date to changing trends.

How it works AI-Generated Training Programs

- 1 Develop customized use cases | Develop training videos focusing on content unique to your organization, like edge cases or results from phishing campaigns
- 2 Utilize specialized learning paths | Maximize content impact by curating training to specific roles and responsibilities, such as finance, legal, or HR departments
- 3 Request & generate training videos | Request training videos based on new threats or your organization's needs, and obtain training videos within an SLA of 24 hours
